MARQUETTE LOSES PROTEST

Arbitration Board of Amateur Commission Finds that Neither Marquette Nor Capital City Leagues Were Members of Commission When Pumping Station Jumped.

More gentle rain drops and another day of inactivity among the amateur ball tossers. If the weather doesn't clear up soon, we'll have to blame it all on the comet. As we go to press we are torn between two feelings. We are glad because Washington didn't lose yesterday, and sorry because The Washington Herald team did not beat the everlasting stuff out of the R. P. Andrews nine in the Commercial League. To-day being Friday, the 13th, the damp weather will probably continue, in which case some of the old-timers will have a chance to get out their stoves, gather around, and tell the youngsters how they used to play way back in the '80s.

When the board of arbitration of the amateur baseball commission considered the protest of the Marquette League against the Pumping Station nine being allowed to jump from that organization to the Capital City circuit recently the board found that at the time the Pumping Station nine quit the Marquette League neither the Marquette nor Capital City leagues had signed the constitution of the amateur baseball commission, and that no action, therefore, could be taken on the protest. As a final result, the Pumping Station pointed out that the constitution specifically states that action must be taken on all protests within forty-eight hours, while, as a matter of fact, the board of arbitration delayed consideration of this case long after the prescribed period.

Catholic University was walloped for the third time this year when it played the Frederick Y. M. C. A. at Frederick Wednesday. As was predicted by many, the Catholic University nine has not played as snappy ball since Eastern College broke the long winning streak of the Brooklanders. While a team has a clean record the players will exert themselves to the utmost to win, but a difference is noted after the club sustains a hard drubbing. The record made by the university lads this spring would be a credit to any college, and they should brace up and finish their schedule with flying honors. Like other teams, the Brooklanders have had their reverses, notably the loss of their coach when the team was going at a good clip, and then, of late, Green's poor form. The "chief" has not been feeling well, and needs a rest. To Green must be given much of the credit for the long row of victories that have come to the collegians, and he has been working too hard.

The many defeats sustained by Harvard, Yale, and Princeton by minor colleges this year, and the strength shown by Penn thus far, would tend to make the Pennsylvanians the logical choice for top honors in collegiate circles at this time, provided the Schultz is not out of the game too long with his injured knee.

What should be one of the best exhibition games played this season will be pulled off at Capital City Park Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when the Marines will line up with the St. Stephen's outfit. The last named team is at present leading the league with a clean slate, while the Marines are acknowledged to be one of the fastest independent organizations in the District.

From the way the race in the Suburban League has started, it should prove one of the best in Washington amateur circle with a clean slate and with two victories adorning the won column, Silver Spring, a new member of this circuit, is close behind the Petworth tribe, with two games won and one lost. Woodburn has had an even break in the two games played, while Takoma, Reed, and Brightwood are tied for fourth place, each having won one and lost two. It seldom happens that the teams get so well matched on the part of a majority, and the way the suburban organization is going at present forecasts a pretty race.

If the Agriculture team hopes to win the pennant in the Departmental League this year, it will be necessary for the Farmers to entirely change their tactics. At the present time there is a tendency on the part of a majority to depend on work for individual honors, forgetting the team work, which is so essential to a good ball nine. This fact was evinced in both of the games the Aggies have played thus far.

Bryan Morse, the star quarter back of the George Washington University football team, is playing first base for the Commissioners. He is the brother of a brother who is now attending an out-of-town school.

"Wash" Williams has joined the Twining team in the Independence League, and will play third base for the New York Avenue boys. Williams is also a member of the Peck team in the Sunday School League.

Ebert, National Union's big right-hander, has been winning consistently this spring, and it was his good box work that gave the Union outfit the two victories they have to their credit.

Teams playing the commissioners always take care to hit the leather as far as possible to one side of the "Willie" Handhoe, who is covering the short field for the District Building nine.

There were three home runs made in the game between the Twining and the Nassau last Tuesday. Dwyer made the longest hit that has been made on the Hilltop this year, when he caught one of Shellenberg's twisters on the end of his bat and sent it screaming far over the center fence's head. Burke, also of Twining, poked a home run, and so did Vandell, of the Nassau.

men, and it is no wonder that the number of scorers at the Departmental League games have dwindled down to one poor fellow.

The Commissioners look unusually good at the rate they are now playing. Their work is not, as a general rule, sensational, but they go along in a steady fashion and their playing is impressive for this very reason. They are a team of veterans, and for a hard race it's the veteran players who stand the best chance. The youngsters may make a big hullabaloo at the start and set the world on fire for a while, but the "vets" is the one who stands the gaff when the firework of a hot finish commences to pop. Watch the Commissioners.

None of the Departmental League teams have new suits this season, and those of the Post Office nine are in need of a good scrubbing. As souvenirs of Peary's arctic expedition, they would command a good price.

Joe Geibel is catching a great game for the Navy lads, and his throwing is second only to that of Kraft. Geibel is young and inexperienced compared with those against whom he is pitted, but Joe is plugging away, and guess, won't be a bird in a few seasons!

Although Knockey, who pitched for the Mailmen Tuesday, only used a straight, speedy ball, he had the Saliors buffaloed, and much comment was made about his perfect control. Control, if the amateur players only knew it, is the secret of many pitchers' success.

Harry Buckley, who proved to be one of the leading stickers in the Independence League last year, has only made one hit in three games thus far, and the fans at McDowell's are beginning to wonder if the "duke" has not lost his stride.

At a meeting of the board of managers of the Suburban League last night, the Reed team withdrew from the league, stating that they could not muster a full nine. Mount Pleasant immediately put in an application for Reed's franchise, and at a meeting called for Saturday, the board will decide if Mount Pleasant can take the organization. Secretary Jones officiated at the meeting, and the managers of all the teams were present.

Silver Spring had a team on the field yesterday for the game with Petworth, but Umpire Meyers called the contest off because of the muddy condition of the field.

It is a shame to break up the old battery of Gallagher and Baggett. They have played together in nearly every league in Washington. This year, however, Baggett will be seen with Woodburn, while Gallagher will mount the slab for Petworth.

"Dick" Robinson, who is doing slab duty for Brightwood this season, lost a hard luck game to Silver Spring the other day. With the score 5 to 3 in favor of his team, the Spring aggregation turned around and made four runs in the last inning.

The ball game, which The Washington Herald boys lost in the Commercial League yesterday shouldn't be counted for it wasn't an interesting affair at all. The other fellows just hit the old ball, and our team couldn't field it, and when the game was over we hadn't really got warmed up yet, and our pitcher said before he started that he didn't want to pitch. What's that? You say we're squealing? Not on your life! You should have seen the Andrews team shaking before we took the field.

N. T. WOLLEY.

LAST DAY AT AQUEDUCT TRACK

Norbitt, Second Choice, Captures the Corona Event.

Jockey Garner Rides Three Winners, and Also Handles Two for Third Place.

New York, May 12.—The twenty-four days' meeting at Aqueduct found up to-day with 4,000 persons enjoying the bracing weather and a good race. Garner rode three winners off the reel and also handled two thirds, further demonstrating that he is the best light-weight in the East. The stake event, the Corona, brought out three starters. Norbitt, second choice, received one of Butwell's energetic rides and defeated Dandelion by a length and a half. Berkeley backed up in the stretch, and was two lengths out of the place.

Carlisle Wins Game, 9 to 3.
The Carlises defeated the Dennton Athletic Club in a snappy game on the latter's grounds by 9 to 3. Fair, the Carlisle's pitcher, held the losers to one long scratch hit, while Umhoefer played a good game behind the bat. Line-up as follows: L. Walser, first base; E. King, second base; C. McGuire, shortstop; Chief Pruitt, third base; Widmayer, Blackstone, and Acorn, covering the outer grounds; Fair, pitcher, and F. Umhoefer, catcher. All teams desiring games, address D. Widmayer, 1313 Twelfth street northwest.

Gallaudet Loses First Baseman.
Bird Craven, Gallaudet's hard-hitting first baseman of several seasons' experience, is out of the game for a month owing to faulty regulations governing studies. "Cotton" Birch, the husky New Yorker, will probably cover the initial sack for the Buff and Blue in the game against Eastern College to-morrow at Kenilworth Green.

The G. C. A. board of directors has chosen S. W. Harris, 12, Mississippi, as assistant baseball manager, vice Eugene Hogle, 13, Nebraska, resigned.

WHIST CONTEST COMPLETED

Messrs. Brown and Babcock Win Championship of District.

Handsome Silver Handled Umbrella for Each, Engraved with Owners' Name.

On Tuesday evening the Washington Chess and Whist Club completed the last night's play of the duplicate bridge whist tournament, which was won by Messrs. Brown and Babcock, who have led the contest from the first evening's play, they winning by a plus of 36.64. Messrs. Tullock and Townsend capturing the second place with a plus of 27.41, and the third place was won by Messrs. Burbank and Davis with a plus of 26.08. The prizes for many years will be a handsome silver-handled umbrella, which will be engraved with the owner's name and an appropriate inscription for the championship of the District.

The local club received word yesterday from Baltimore that the Inter-city whist tournament, which will be held at Norfolk on May 30, will be played by twelve members from each club, which includes Baltimore, Washington, and Norfolk. The prize to be played for is a handsome silver cup, played for annually until won by the same club three times in succession, when they will be allowed to own it.

On Monday, May 30, two big sessions of pairs from all clubs and outsiders will be held. One hundred players have signed for this event. This will be the most important whist contest held in the South for many years, single pairs coming from Philadelphia, Wilmington, Scranton, and New York.
